

Lent: Our Chance to Repent

Today's Gospel recalls the theme found in the Second Reading: those who have received God's grace are responsible for what they have received. St. Paul reminds the Corinthians that every gift from God carries responsibility. If God has revealed His love and goodness to us, then we must respond appropriately. St. Paul speaks of the prefiguring of Baptism and Eucharist in the Old Testament. He also recalls how the people rejected God in these precursors, sinned, and for this were severely punished. How much more is today's Christian responsible, who has received not the precursors of Baptism and Eucharist but the actual Sacraments. • Lent is a season when we are called to honestly examine our lives and remove from our hearts anything that keeps us from loving God and our neighbor. Lent is not to be squandered. We honestly do not know how much time we have to turn to the Lord's ways. We do not even know how much time we have to live. We see disasters on TV, we pass car accidents on the road, we hear of people we know who die suddenly. Every moment is precious. In a sense, we are living on borrowed time, and this season of repentance is too valuable not to use well. • There is also a positive dimension to the parable about the tree, found at the end of today's Gospel. Lent is a time to dig around our roots and fertilize them with God's word, prayer, penance, and receiving the Sacraments, etc., so that even if we have not really borne fruit yet, we might still have a chance to do so. We cannot let our past failures paralyze us; we must courageously use every opportunity for growth that God provides to us.

Prayer of the Week

Let us pray to the Father and ask him to form a new heart within us. • God of all compassion, Father of all goodness, to heal the wounds our sins and selfishness bring upon us you bid us turn to fasting, prayer, and sharing with our brothers and sisters. We acknowledge our sinfulness, our guilt is ever before us: when our weakness causes discouragement, let your compassion fill us with hope and lead us through a Lent of repentance to the beauty of Easter joy.

Faith First

Through our Lord Jesus Christ your Son, who lives and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

Sacrament of Reconciliation/Penance

Two powerful effects of baptism are forgiveness of sin and the adoption of the baptized into God's family. Further, the Holy Spirit given in the sacraments of Baptism and Confirmation and the reception of the Lord in the Eucharist make us holy. However, the new life we receive through the sacraments of Initiation does not take away our weakened human nature. Our inclination to sin remains, requiring a lifelong struggle to conversion. • A major help in this struggle to heed Jesus' command to repent and to believe in the gospel is the sacrament of Conversion, also termed Penance, Confession, Forgiveness, and Reconciliation. • We call it the sacrament of Conversion because it makes sacramentally present Jesus' call to repent. This, in fact, is the first step for sinners to take in returning to the loving Father who awaits with open arms. This sacrament calls Catholics as individuals and as a community to turn to God's infinite mercy and walk the path of renewal. • We call it the sacrament of Penance to emphasize that a life of conversion involves doing penance and making satisfaction for sins we have committed. • We call it the sacrament of Confession because an essential element of the sacrament is to tell our sins to the priest. Through this sacrament we also "confess," that is, acknowledge and praise God for the bounteous mercy God extends to us. • We call it the sacrament of Forgiveness to underscore that through the priest's absolution God imparts pardon and peace. • Finally, we call it the sacrament of Reconciliation because God's love empowers us to become reconciled, to become one again, with those we have harmed through our sins.

The Diocese has procedures in place for all parishioners, including Sacred Heart, to maintain a safe environment for all. Over the next few weeks, the bulletin will give an overview of the various plans already in place, the role of the Diocese in training volunteers and paid staff, and guidance in the reporting of any allegations to the appropriate authorities. • Please be sure to read the bulletin concerning this subject. Next week, we will briefly address the topic of training in abuse prevention. (The specifics of the training programs can be found on the diocesan website www.scd.org/safeenvironment.)
